

Tiago Botelho

tiago.botelho@kellogg.northwestern.edu

Research Interests

I work on microeconomic theory, with a particular interest in auction theory, decision theory, and information economics.

Education

Ph.D. in Managerial Economics and Strategy – Kellogg School of Management, Aug 2024 – Present

M.A. in Economics – São Paulo School of Economics, 2024

B.S. in Economics – University of São Paulo, 2021

Work in Progress

Candle Auctions (with Daniel Monte)

On the Impossibility of Persuasion in Classic Auctions (with Felipe Shalders)

Token-Based Voting (with Marcos Nakaguma)

Work Experience

Teaching Assistant

- At the São Paulo School of Economics (graduate level): Mathematics for Economists; Microeconomics I and II; Political Economy.
- At the University of São Paulo (undergraduate level): Principles of Economics; International Trade; Mathematical Economics.

Computer

Python, L^AT_EX, Bash, HTML.